Nixon May Talk to Moon-Walker

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon may talk to the two astronauts while they walk on the moon Monday, the New York Times says.

In today's editions, the Times says the White House telephoned the American Broadcasting System Wednesday about the possibility of such a hookup. ABC is coordinating pool coverage of the Apollo 11 mission.

"Sources close to the President" said the announcement could come today, the Times she told him when he was courting her. But who gets the most petting in the house now? Papa? no, indeed. The cat does. Mama also served the cat its meals more regularly.

"They say that behind every successful man is a good woman, and I want to be that good woman behind you," she whispered to him shyly before they wed. Well, that was some years ago, and true enough she's behind him—but barking at his heels if he doesn't ask for a raise in pay every six months.

When he carried her across the threshold of their new home after their honeymoon, she sighed happily, "I'll never want to leave here—it's heavenly." Now, if he objects at having to take her out two evenings a week, she informed him, "Well, Warden, I've got to break out of this jail sometime or I'll lose my mind."

"How can marriage change anyone so much?" he often wonders. But marriage didn't really change her. It simply revealed her. Nothing about a woman ever really changes but her mind.

He simply married a girl just like the girl who married his dad.

morning. The longest was 35 minutes, at the start of the 13th orbit.

Davies said Luna 15 was in a path within 60 degrees of the moon's center and inclined 25 degrees to the equator. He added that it was appearing in the southwest, moving across the southern side of the moon and disappearing in the northwest.

Later, he said Luna 15 was appearing over the Mare Australe in the southwest of the moon, moving across the south and over the Mare Humorum and disappearing behind the moon after skirting the Oceanus Procellarum.

Moscow newspapers gave no further information on Luna 15 or its missions. They carried the brief announcement, broadcast Thursday by Moscow Radio, that the moon probe was in orbit.

Luna 15, which was launched last Sunday, went into an orbit 62 to 75 miles above the lunar surface on Thursday.

There has been widespread speculation that the Russians would try to get the jump on the Apollo 11 astronauts by landing Luna 15 on the moon, then bring it back to earth with a sample of the moon's surface.

Lovell said Thursday he believed this was likely because "if the Russians intend to put Luna 15 in orbit and just leave it there, the whole operation is incomprehensible." But he added: "I find the whole thing most obscure, and at this stage what Luna 15 will do next is largely guesswork."

said, Daryl Griffin of ABC, producer of the moon coverage, said Thursday, "No one in the White House has called me."

14-Year-Old Boy Gets by Guards to Steal Supplies From B-52

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Sentry dogs and a security force of 250 men didn't keep a 14-year-old boy from boarding a parked B-52 jet bomber where he took some food, supplies, a pistol and ammunition.

An Air Force spokesman explained the security breakdown: "A temporary deficiency occurred."

The boy, sought by authorities as a runaway, crawled into the Strategic Air Command (SAC) plane July 5 and broke into some compartments. The Air Force spokesman said the boy was on foot and was caught as he attempted to leave the base. His name was not released.

All items taken from the plane were recovered, the spokesman said, adding that all classified documents were accounted for.

Since then, the base's security officer has been reassigned, the spokesman said. No reprimands have been issued.

A spokesman at SAC headquarters in Omaha, Neb., said many persons have been inside B-52s.

"The only thing that perturbed us was that this boy got in undetected. As a result, we have reviewed our security procedures," he said.

The runaway boy was turned over to Riverside police. The Air Force said it will not file charges.

Glimmer of Hope for Heat Relief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Weather Bureau says a low pressure system could bring some relief from the hot and humid weather to Arkansas by late Saturday or Sunday.

The system is expected to produce some cloudiness and shower activity in the southeastern portion of the state and then move slightly northwest.

Thursday was another typical summer day over the state with hot and humid weather and very little thundershower activity.

Several areas reported a high of 99 but no 100 degree readings were recorded.

Temperatures are not expected to be as warm Saturday. Low tonight should be in the 70s.

Overnight low temperatures included 66 at Fayetteville, 70 at Fayetteville, 72 at El Dorado, 73 at Little Rock, Fort Smith, Jonesboro and Texarkana and 75 at Pine Bluff.

No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m.

cubes and grape and orange drinks.

After a morning of little activity, they eat lunch at 1:30 p.m., consisting of chicken soup, turkey with gravy, fruit drink and cheese cracker cubes.

Main activity of the day begins at 4:30 p.m. when the lunar module (LM) is pressurized for the first time. The hatch between the LM and the command ship is opened at 5:40 p.m., and Aldrin crawls through the tunnel into the LM. Armstrong follows 10 minutes later. Both inspect the LM's interior and become familiar with working in the LM in weightlessness.

Aldrin returns to the command ship at 7:15 p.m., followed by Armstrong five minutes later.

A television transmission about 7:30 p.m. may show LM's interior before the hatch is closed.

Dinner at 8:30 p.m., consisting of tuna salad, chicken stew, butterscotch pudding and cocoa or grapefruit drink.

Astronauts begin nine-hour rest period at 9:30 p.m.

The day past:

All three pilots were awake at 8:20 a.m. when mission control made the first call and read them the morning news. Aldrin said he got 7½ hours sleep. Armstrong and Collins each got seven.

They gave a weather report of earth, noting clouds over Houston, where it was raining, and predicting the sky would soon begin clearing, which it did.

Shortly after noon, they triggered their main spaceship engine for the first time since lift-off and put Apollo 11 on a more perfect path toward the moon.

Lunch consisted of salmon salad and a fruit drink. Collins said he found a new way to heat coffee—put the cup against some equipment which was warm.

They exercised by jogging in place while ground controllers monitored their heartbeats.

A thirty-five minutes telecast from Apollo 11 began at 7:31 p.m. It opened with a view of earth from 148,000 miles away, showing North and Central America and the Pacific Ocean in daylight, streaked by clouds. The astronauts reported a storm southwest of Alaska. Interior views showed Armstrong standing on his head and Collins gave earthlings a tour of the food compartment and instrument panel.

The astronauts had a dinner of spaghetti, pork, scalloped potatoes and beef sandwiches, and mission control bid them good-night at 9:41 p.m. for a 10-hour rest period.

Opponents Delay Vote Upon ABM

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the Safeguard missile defense system have dashed hopes for early Senate voting on the issue by announcing they will seek another secret session to resume what some senators were calling "the battle of charts."

Both sides hauled out charts to illustrate their arguments Thursday during 5 hours and 45 minutes of Senate debate behind closed doors.

As the rare secret meeting was nearing an end, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said he would seek a second closed meeting within 10 days.

And when a reporter asked if the Senate could complete action by the Aug. 13 recess on the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill which contains the Safeguard funds, Mansfield said "It's going to be close."

The initial session, according to senators going in and out of the chamber, was marked by some sharp questions and answers, heated debate and even some shouting, plus a battle of "charts" by proponents and opponents of the antiballistic missile—ABM.

Symington finally got a chance to show the chart he says indicates that, even if it works perfectly, Safeguard would provide little additional protection for U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., countered with pro-Safeguard charts provided by the Pentagon.

"The Pentagon outdid Symington a little bit with bigger charts, colored, and with clear overlays," said Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., "Symington just had a clear simple chart."

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, an ABM backer, termed the battle of charts "a standoff."

"I'm a realist," said Jackson. "I don't think the senators changed their minds one way or another. But it gave the opportunity to discuss the total sense of the problems involved."

Likewise, Symington said "I think everybody's pretty well made up their minds."

"Very few if any minds were changed," Mansfield told reporters.

Mansfield said 92 or 93 of the 100 senators were present at one point or another during Thursday's long session.

An additional obstacle to a quick showdown on the ABM came with Mansfield's announcement the Senate will not work next Monday in keeping with President Nixon's request that it be observed as a holiday to celebrate the expected moon landing.

$16,000 Taken in B.L. Holdup

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A man robbed a branch office of a savings and loan Thursday and Police Chief R. E. Briens said a Little Rock man was sought in connection with the holdup.

About $16,000 was taken from the office, which is located in a shopping center on Little Rock's west side.

Briens said an individual reported seeing a man flee from the branch office in an automobile. The witness gave the vehicle's license number to authorities.

The chief said the number was the same as the plate issued to Ronald Campbell, 23, of Little Rock, formerly of Tulsa, Okla.

Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana refused to declare a holiday, saying: "It would result in a serious financial imposition on the state and disruption of orderly administration of state government."

G.F. Defense Has Doubts About WR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for two Game and Fish Commission members Thursday again questioned whether they could get a fair verdict from Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who will sit as judge of the ouster proceedings he has initiated against them.

A hearing was completed Thursday for one of the commissioners, Newt L. Hailey of Rogers, charged by Rockefeller with four counts of misconduct in office.

Testimony began Thursday in the case of Raymond Farris of Biscoe, charged by Rockefeller with 10 counts of misconduct in office. The hearing for Farris was continued until Tuesday.

The testimony is before a hearing panel appointed by Rockefeller and evidence is taken for the governor by H. W. McMillan of Arkadelphia, a lawyer appointed for the task by Rockefeller.

"Suppose I was tried by a judge, without a jury, knowing that the judge had spent a quarter million dollars or more to get evidence to convict me," said Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, lawyer for Hailey. "How in God's green earth can I get a fair trial?"

Sam Robinson, attorney for Farris, hit the same theme, saying, "The governor is disqualified by every rule of right and wrong from passing on the merits of this case."

The testimony will be reviewed by Rockefeller, who then will announce whether in his opinion the commissioners are guilty of the charges he has brought against them.

Farris did not appear at Thursday's hearing. He is reported ill with tuberculosis. Robinson tried to call Rockefeller to testify as to the source of the financing of the investigation, and to whom the money was paid.

Rockefeller wasn't in his office, however, and the panel appointed by Rockefeller to hear the testimony refused to give Robinson permission to call the governor.

Gordon also asked that the governor be required to furnish the source of money spent in the investigation.

"I think it is a reasonable inference that the money is being paid personally by the governor," Robinson said.

McMillan said he had received two checks for his services and neither was signed by Rockefeller or came directly from any Rockefeller fund.

Hugh Hackler, commission director, testified concerning Farris' purchase of a commission truck for $800 and a commission Jeep for $500 on May 12, 1966.

Four days before the commission was to advertise for bids, Farris brought in three bids on each of the vehicles, and Farris' bid was highest, Hackler said.

The director said that he had had years of experience in the automobile business and believed Farris' bids were fair prices.

The other bidders were identified as Eagle Boyd Jr. of Hazey and Joe "Delmasco" of Carlisle, according to bid forms. McMillan said a subpoena has been issued for Joe Delmasco of Carlisle.

McMillan said a truck similar to the one purchased by Farris brought $21 more in a subsequent sale of commission vehicles, and a similar Jeep was sold for $262.80 more than Farris paid for a commission Jeep. Hackler said the Jeep Farris bought needed repair.

Low-Rent Housing Set for Scarcity

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Construction will begin by January on a $790,000, federally financed low-rent housing project for 37 elderly families and 17 low-income families, Housing Authority Director R. G. Deener said Wednesday.

Labor Is Overridden on Work Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The so-called right-to-work law, adopted by the people in 1944, was approved Thursday by the state Constitutional Convention as part of a proposed new constitution despite objections by some labor figures.

The vote was 77-8.

J. Bill Becker, head of the state AFL-CIO, has said he would work to defeat a constitution containing the right-to-work provision.

And in the convention Thursday, state Labor Commissioner Arthur Hays offered two amendments that would have allowed, under certain circumstances, a watering down of the rights guaranteed under the measure.

The right-to-work law is part of the state's current constitution. It was made part of the constitution when the voters, in 1944, approved it as a constitutional amendment.

Hays' proposals would have allowed the legislature to amend the right-to-work provision by a three-fifths majority vote. The convention delegates rejected this proposal on a vote of 17-71.

The delegates voted 25-21 in defeating Hays' other proposal, which would have allowed the legislature, by three-fifths majority vote, to provide for the establishment of agency shops if agency shops were approved by 75 per cent of the employees who would be covered by the shop.

In other actions Thursday, the convention:

—Refused to limit the number of terms a person may serve as governor.

—Approved a proposal to set up the procedure for removal of members of the state Highway Commission and the state Game and Fish Commission.

Texarkanian Held for Mail Fraud

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — J. H. Howell, postal inspector at Little Rock, says authorities have arrested Howard C. Reynolds of Texarkana on charges of federal mail fraud.

Howell said Reynolds, in his early 30s, had been accused of sending out chain letters that would have netted him $102,400 if the letters had worked. Howell said Reynolds, who was living at a Texarkana hotel, was released on bond Thursday.

Howell said the letters first began to appear in June and contained the names of fictitious persons living in five towns in the Texarkana area. He said Reynolds had rented post office boxes in each of the towns.

Howell said Reynolds sent the letters to persons who were next of kin to servicemen killed recently in Vietnam. He said the recipients were promised that they would receive $1,024 within 30 days if the chain wasn't broken. The recipients were to reproduce the letter and send $1 to the name at the top.

Jonesboro and Malvern Girls Win

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Jo Ella Todd, Miss Jonesboro won talent competition in preliminaries Thursday night in the Miss Arkansas Pageant — repeating her victory in preliminaries in the 1968 pageant.

Deborah Lynn Vantrease, Miss Malvern, was named winner in the swimsuit division preliminaries Thursday night.

Jo Ella was Miss Arkansas State University in 1968 when she scored a preliminary talent division victory and wound up as second runner-up in the finals.

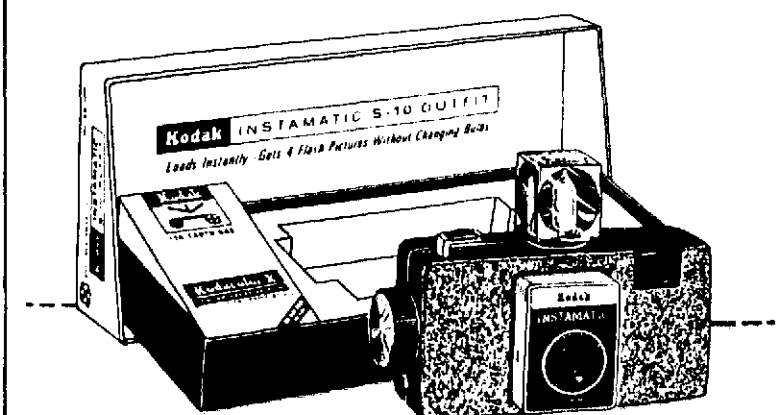

Thursday night, she sang "Musetta's Waltz" and "Aquarius" in her performance. The 21-year-old brown-haired beauty is 5-foot-6, 114 pounds and measures 36-24-35.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Todd of Dell, a community near Jonesboro.

Miss Vantrease is 20, also has brown hair, is 5-foot-6, 114 pounds and measures 36-23-35.

GOLDEN AGE CLUB MEETS

After 3 weeks absence the Golden Age Club held its regular meeting, July 17 at the Douglas Building. Mrs. Ola Smith, president, opened the meeting with a short business session and read a poem "Upward Calling." Mrs. Callie Stingley voiced a prayer and Mrs. Cora Wortham read the minutes and cards were sent to the members who are ill.

One member, Ervin Gleghorn, was present after a long absence. Mrs. Georgia Clark showed colored pictures of the fishing trip to the Experiment Station and cards and dominos were played after which cookies and cold drinks were served. The next meeting a luncheon will be held on August 7.

PACK 92 MEETS

Cub Scout Pack 92 Den 1 held their regular monthly summer meeting and toured the fire station and the post office. After their tours they returned to the home of their Den Mother for a rousing game of baseball and refreshments. Attending were Denner — Joe Young; Ass't. Denner — Harold Poindexter; Cheerleader — Larry Merrill; Ass't. Game leader — Scott Patton; Den Chief — Paul Patton; Den Mother — Mrs. Albert Patton; Ass't. Den Mother — Mrs. Ural Poindexter and Son, Jimmy. The boys were much impressed by what they saw. Next month they hope to visit Sheriff Griffin and the jail and the police station. They are trying to become better acquainted with their community and the people who serve in it. These boys 8 years old and up will be interested in starting new dens at Brookwood school so that they can at last function as a real Cub Scout Pack under the leadership of Jerry Brown. At the moment this is the only den at Brookwood in this 3 month old Pack.

Coming, Going

The Verner McMurtreys in Patmos had as guests last week Richard McMurtrey and Don Anderson of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl McMurtrey and Debbie of El Dorado. The Carl McMurtreys also visited Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Hamm in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Keith and two children, Malvern, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Barnam Wright.

Miss Susan Forster and Mrs. Cynthia Owen went to Little Rock today (Friday) to meet Miss Susan Lone of Bowling Green, Ky., who will be visiting in the home of Mrs. Marguerite Forster.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reece, Linda and Peggy left today for a week's vacation in Arizona and New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Lex Helms, Jr. went to Pine Bluff this week to meet their new grandson, Mark Caldwell Jones.

Mrs. Harold Hightower, Clarissa and Bill, Little Rock, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Brown. The Hightowers have just returned from the Arkansas Baptist Assembly at Siloam Springs, where Bill was chosen Honor Camper. This honor will entitle him to a free trip to the assembly next year.

Births Notice

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones of Pine Bluff announce the arrival of their first child on July 16. It was a 10 pound, 6 ounce boy, who has been named Mark Caldwell. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lex Helms, Jr. of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones of Pine Bluff. Mrs. Lex Helms, Sr. of Hope is the great-grandmother.

Batesville Man Heads Policemen

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Association of Chiefs of Police Wednesday elected Police Chief Jimmy Mitchum of Batesville to be its president.

Police Chief Wayne Hayden of Springdale was named first vice president, Police Chief R. E. Brians of Little Rock second vice president and Police Chief Reo Bowman of North Little Rock treasurer.

The group decided to sponsor a high school senior in each county as a student for three weeks at the police training academy at Camden.

Filibusters are more common in the Senate than in the House because rules of the former permit unlimited debate unless cloture is voted, while House rules limit debate.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. James McJunkins of Saratoga, Ark. announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Gwen McJunkins, to Bobby J. Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Webb of Columbus, Arkansas.

Bobby J. Webb is a graduate of Southern State College at Magnolia, Arkansas and is now an employee of Nashville Production Credit Association in Hope, Arkansas.

Gwen McJunkins is attending Southern State College this fall where she is a senior.

The wedding will be the event of July 18th in the home of M.H. Peebles. Mr. Peebles will perform the ceremony.

After the wedding the couple will reside in Hope.

POT THAT NEVER STOPS BOILING: FIRST WIVES VS. SECOND WIVES

Dear Helen: These second wives who complain about first-wife alimony and child care payments should remember one thing: They are SECOND. They know their husband's obligations so why gripe about them? Often these second wives are thieves who stole their men. Now they want ALL his money too! If the judge grants a payment, it's fair. A first family is a man's first responsibility! —DESSERTED WIFE

Dear Helen: I am happily married to a fine man who was married before for 10 years. He pays close to $600 a month alimony — for the support of his ex and one son. He also pays all medical and hospital bills for both of them. She is supposed to put some of the money away for his college education but, though she has a good-paying job, I doubt that she saves a penny. According to the boy, who visits us each summer, she leads a pretty fast life. We doubt he is getting the right training.

My husband said he would have agreed to anything, just to get away from his first wife. This is where unscrupulous women win — they "sell" a man his freedom and sometimes the price is very high. Incidentally, I didn't meet him until long after the divorce.

I was also married before, but I didn't ask a penny of my former husband. If I could support myself and family, then why can't other able-bodied women? There should at least be a decreasing scale of payments as the woman becomes self-supporting.

These females hesitate about marrying again because they'll lose a sizeable chunk of alimony and retain only the child support. —FOR MORE REALISTIC LAWS

Dear Readers: . . . And the fight goes on!

Two of the first rules a student of bridge learns are: Second hand low and third hand high. They are pretty good rules but there are plenty of exceptions to both of them.

Today's hand shows a third-hand-low play by Ted Lightner that helped him and Mike Gottlieb win the 1932 Masters' Pairs.

Mike opened the seven of hearts in response to his partner's heart overcall. South called for dummy's queen and almost any player would have covered with the king but not Teddy.

Back in those early days, almost everyone led top of three-small but Mike had already started the more modern practice of leading low from three, so Ted knew that South was sitting over him with the ace, 10 and nine.

He also knew that he might never get a heart trick if he played low but Teddy also noted that dummy had a minimum opening bid and that maybe there was some chance to come out with a nice plus-score. Therefore, Teddy let the queen hold. He did play the eight to tell his partner to lead another heart if he ever got in.

South saw his best line of play would be to go after the club suit. At trick two he led his jack of clubs and let it ride after Ted played low. Mike was in with the queen and led his four of hearts. Now the jack forced South's ace. Ted still had the ace of clubs as an entry for his last four hearts.

If Ted had covered the queen with the king, South would have let him hold the trick. He could lead a second heart or anything else that his fancy suggested, but he would never be able to bring in his suit and South would come home with the marbles.

wring men dry . . . I've heard every side of this second-marriage controversy, and all I can say is: It would take a judge wiser than Solomon to please everyone in a divorce case.

True, many inequities occur on both sides, and the injured one's only recourse is another trip to court — which is costly and chancy. I don't see how things will ever get much better unless we turn children of divorce over to the state to raise, and who wants THAT? —H.

Dear Helen: So many of your readers write to say they think they are in love with two people at once and ask what to do. Actually, there is a very simple way to find out.

You have only to close your eyes, imagine a large lake with the two a great distance apart, both drowning. You are on shore with a boat and able to save only one. Which will it be?

That's the one you love! —AN OLD SAGE

Dear Sage: Ya-but: What if you save one — and spend the rest of your life regretting that he wasn't the other? —H.

P. S. Sorry, I'm a born ya-butter.

Dear Helen: "GEORGE" stated in your column that 90 percent of U.S. husbands would step out if they had the chance. Ha!!!

I am no different from other men, and I do not step out on my wife. I have had every opportunity during the last six months when I lived alone in a new city until school let out and my wife and children could join me. I only looked; I did not sample.

Any man who has to "compare" his wife's love must not have a good marriage. He deserves a wife who also compares. And he should have stood single! —MIKE

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. FLOYD FRANKLIN BURNETT, JR.

Miss Mollie Ann Green and Floyd Franklin Burnett, Jr., exchanged wedding vows in Plymouth Park Baptist Church on June 28. Mr. and Mrs. William Martin Green of Irving, Texas are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Franklin Burnett also of Irving, Texas.

Candlesticks, greenery and Gladioli flanked the Arch and kneeling bench for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Dennis Baw.

A formal gown of White Peau de Sole accented with re-embroidered appliques and seed pearls was worn by the bride. Her Chapel length train was trimmed with matching lace. A Pearl Tiara held her veil of illusion and appliqued lace. She carried a bouquet of a White Orchid, encircled by French Carnations and Lilies-of-the-Valley.

Miss Mary Gail Haugarth was Maid of Honor and wore a formal empire gown of mint green crepe with lace bodice and a floor length train. The Junior bridesmaid was Miss Mary Beth Deardorff whose gown was Kelly green with mint green lace bodice. The bridesmaids wore mint green veils of illusion held by hand rolled petals of matching chiffon.

Rebecca Ann Deardorff was the flower girl and she wore mint green Organza dress accented with applique lace and seed pearls. She carried a white arm basket trimmed in mint green.

Henry Vaughan Carvill IV was best man with Donald Roy Martin and Paul Michael Wakefield as groomsmen and ushers.

Members of the house party at the reception were Misses: Kathy Sue Wakefield and Patti Burnett.

The mother of the bride chose a soft pastel shade of Aqua Alaskine with appliques accented with matching beads and rhinestones. The grooms mothers attire was a pink lace dress trimmed with white lace and was accented by a pearl pin.

The couple will make their home at 508 South Haley, Irving, Texas after their wedding trip.

The brides traveling attire was a mint green Alaskin dress and Jacket. Her corsage was a white Orchid.

The bride graduated from Mac Arthur High School in Irving and tin and Paul Michael Wakefield as groomsmen and ushers.

FASHION TIPS

Fall Patterns

Pattern yourself in patterns for fall. There are big bold plaids with special interest in the classic tartans. Some are even combined with tweed or herringbone. Other highlights include the challis print, American Indian motifs, peasant patterns, tiny Victorian flower patterns and argyles.

Traditional Favorite

The jumper, a traditional favorite, boasts a crayon box assortment of styles: the horseshoe neck, suspender straps, bib top, cut-away armholes, pleated, dropped waists, belted, zippered and the pants-jumper.

They're All Washable

Fall styles that are "on top" are the polo shirt, peasant blouse, ribbed sweater, turtleneck, crepe shirt—all in washable fabrics from cotton to acrylic.

Philadelphia Heat Knocks Out Boynton

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Orville Moody fell victim to the gasping heat, while Frank Boynton discovered the power of positive thinking works wonders for him—but could be dangerous to anyone else within a tee shot.

"Almost killed Arnold Palmer and destroyed Chuck Courtney and Dick Ryan—just by association," the 32-year-old Boynton joked Thursday after shooting a five-under-par 67 for a share of the first-round lead with Bob Dickson in the Philadelphia Golf Classic.

But it was no joking matter for Moody. The year-old U.S. Open champion collapsed from heat prostration on the 15th fairway. Oxygen was administered and he was taken from the course by an ambulance, his participation in the $150,000 event over.

He was not hospitalized and was in good condition.

The muggy, 95-degree heat on the 6,670-yard, par 72 Whitmarsh Country Club course forced at least five others to pull out.

Trailing Dickson and Boynton by one stroke at 68 were Mac McLendon, Dale Douglass, Lou Graham and New Zealand's Bob Charles, a left-hander who finished second in last week's British Open and has been in the top 10 in nine of his last 11 events.

At 69 was a big group including Joel Goldstrand, Bunky Henry, Ray Floyd, Bob Stone, Babe Hickey, Deane Berman and Tommy Jacobs.

Lee Trevino had a 70, Frank Beard, Julius Boros and defending champion Bob Murphy were grouped at 72.

Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper each had a 73 and appeared to be in danger of missing the cut when the field is trimmed to the low 70s and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Boynton, a Florida native now playing out of Cleveland, is in his third try at the tour. He played briefly in 1957, then went into the Navy. He played again from 1961-63, took a club job then rejoined the tour last year. He has yet to win.

"I was talking with Chuck Courtney the other night," he recalled. "I told him that when I play in sectional tournaments at home I'm concentrating on winning, on catching the leader."

"I'm not worried about making the cut or making a check. I go out to win. And the golf I play there is good enough to win out here. So I decided to go out and try to win this one."

"And Dick Ryan gave me some coaching. He helped a lot, getting me into the proper posture, the proper position."

"Those two, the talk with Courtney and Ryan's coaching, helped get me here."

Then he noticed both had withdrawn because of the heat. "Good Lord," Boynton said. "I've destroyed them by association."

As to Palmer, Boynton said his shirt-sleeve caught on his arm on his backswing on the 15th tee. "I flinched a little and hit it on the 13th green, where Palmer was putting out. I could have killed him."

But he missed Arnie, took a drop off the green, in a two iron on the 15th and saved his par.

BATTING—Sal Bando, Athletics, drilled five straight hits, driving in four runs and leading Oakland to an 8-2 victory over Seattle.

PITCHING—Phil Niekro, Braves, scattered eight hits and became the first 15-game winner in the majors as Atlanta bombed Cincinnati 12-2.

Oakland's Victories Seem in Vain

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer Forgive the Oakland Athletics for feeling like they're on a treadmill to oblivion. Chasing the Minnesota Twins can be a frustrating game.

Oakland has won seven of eight games in the last week, including Thursday night's 8-2 victory over the Seattle Pilots. That's a good enough pace in most places but all it did for the A's was drop them another 1½ games behind the rampaging Twins in the American League's West Division.

Minnesota won its ninth straight and 18th in the last 20 outings Thursday, whipping Chicago 8-5. The victory kept the Twins' West lead at a comfortable five games over the A's, who don't gain ground when they win, but can't afford to lose.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore shaded Cleveland 3-2 and Detroit trimmed Washington 4-3. Boston's game at New York was rained out and the other teams were not scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco outlasted Los Angeles 14-13, Atlanta whipped Cincinnati 12-2, St. Louis routed Philadelphia 11-3 and Montreal edged Pittsburgh 5-4. New York and Chicago were off.

Sal Bando did a one-man job on Seattle for the A's. Bando drilled five straight hits and drove in Oakland's first four runs as the Pilots suffered their eighth straight loss.

Don Mincher homered for the third straight game for Seattle. Bando doubled one run home in the first and two more in the third. Then he singled his next three times up and raised his batting average to .291.

The Twins jumped on Chicago starter Joe Horlen and rushed six runs across in the first inning against the White Sox.

Minnesota sent 12 men to the plate in the big inning with singles by Rich Reese and Ted Uhlaender, a two-run double by George Mitterwald and a pair of bases-loaded walks driving in the runs.

Later, Harmon Killebrew smashed a tape-measure homer. Killebrew's 28th of the season crashed into the center field backdrop, 456 feet from home plate. It marked the second time Killebrew has reached the backdrop in the nine years that the Twins have played in Minneapolis. No other hitter has ever hit one out in that region of Metropolitan Stadium.

Jim Kaat, who made three errors, gained credit for his 10th victory with Jerry Crider finishing up.

Brooks Robinson hammered a two-run homer in the eighth inning that moved Baltimore past Cleveland.

Until Robinson connected, Dave McNally's two-season, 15-game unbeaten string was in jeopardy. McNally, lifted for a pinch hitter in a seventh, left the game with Baltimore trailing and stood to be the losing pitcher until Robinson connected.

It marked the eighth time that McNally has been rescued from a possible loss by a late Baltimore rally. The victory went to reliever Pete Richertale while Stan Williams, the victim of Robinson's homer, was the loser.

Willie Horton's three-run homer gave Detroit a quick lead against Washington but it took some stout relief pitching by Fred Lasher and Don McMahon to preserve the victory.

The Senators had closed the Tigers' lead to 4-3 when Lasher escaped a two-on, one-out jam in the eighth by retiring Ed Brinkman and Jim French.

Del Unser's one-out triple and a walk to Tim Cullen knocked out Lasher in the ninth and McMahon came on to face Frank Howard, who had poled his 34th homer of the year earlier. But this time, the Senators' slugger bounced into a game-ending double play.

Cards Smash Pirates With 14 Hits

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer Raise the mound! Widen the strike zone! The hitters are on the upswing again!

Atlanta's Phil Niekro, who became the major leagues' first 15-game winner with a 12-2 cakewalk over Cincinnati, was the lone National League pitcher to go the distance Thursday as batters in four cities went on a 99-hit binge.

The Braves banged out 20 hits to lead the parade, Felipe Alou, Rico Carty, Cleo Boyer and Bob Didier stroking three apiece, and cut Los Angeles' West Division lead to one-half game.

The Dodgers outlast San Francisco 16-15 in an afternoon slugfest, but Bob Burd's three-run homer in the seventh inning gave the Giants a 14-13 victory. The third place Giants thus moved within one game of the lead.

Joe Torre and Julian Javier each smacked three hits, including a homer, as St. Louis' streaking Cardinals blitzed Philadelphia 11-3 with a 14-hit barrage. Pittsburgh and Montreal divided 20 hits in another offensive duel won by the Expos 5-4 on eighth inning doubles by Ty Cline and Coco Laboy.

In the American League Minnesota downed the Chicago White Sox 8-5; Baltimore edged Cleveland 3-2; Detroit shaded Washington 4-3 and Oakland beat Seattle 8-2. The Boston-New York Yankees game was rained out.

Niekro, 15-7, scattered eight Cincinnati hits and contributed two himself to the Braves' attack against loser Jim Merritt and four relievers. The Braves, who pulled away with a six-run flurry in the eighth, made the most of 17 singles and doubles by Didier, Alou and Gil Garrido.

Burd, who replaced slugger Willie McCovey at first base during a six-run Los Angeles burst in the top of the seventh that sent the Dodgers ahead 13-11, rocked reliever Jim Brewer for the winning homer in the bottom half after singles by Jim Davenport and Ken Henderson.

Bobby Bonds drove in five early San Francisco runs with a single and his 19th and 20th homers. Little Maury Wills had four RBI for the Dodgers on two triples and a homer.

Torre delivered three St. Louis runs with a double, a single and his 15th homer and Javier poled his sixth homer after drilling a pair of singles.

The Cards, who have won four in a row and 12 of their last 14 starts, grabbed a 2-0 first inning lead, struck for four runs in the second and three more in the third, staking right-hander Mike Torrez to a 9-0 lead.

Torrez evened his record at 4-4, with relief help from Ray Washburn, after being tagged for homers by Rick Joseph and Johnny Briggs.

The Expos broke a 4-4 deadlock in the eighth on successive two-baggers by Cline and Laboy off Jim Bunning. Willie Stargell's two-run seventh inning homer.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Diaz Ordaz will be awarded the Olympic Cup and the medal of the Brundage Foundation today, Pedro Ramirez Vazquez, president of the Mexican Olympic Organizing Committee announced Thursday.

U.S., Russia, Britain, Open Track Meet

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sprinters, hurdlers, high jumpers and discus throwers provide the U.S. men a big advantage in the opening today of the two-session international triangular track meet against Russia and the British Commonwealth.

Even though the U.S. Army has cost the Yankee team the services of such stars as shot putter Neal Steinhilber and distance runner Tracy Smith, the U.S. squad boasts speed, depth and power.

Perhaps depth will be the deciding factor. The Russian men have three Olympic champions and the British Commonwealth, thanks to Australia, hold the advantage in the distance runs.

Over-all, the Yankees figure to win handily in the men's events and the girls of Uncle Sam should give the Russians a good tussle.

The young Russian men's squad boasts three Olympic champions in triple jumper Viktor Saneyev, javelin thrower Jkanis Lukis and Aakler Vladimir Golubnichy.

John Carlos, Ivory Crockett, Lee Evans and Marty Liquori provide a big advantage to the United States in the flat races. The high jump with Olympic champion Dick Fosbury also should be in the U. S. column along with Bob Seagren in the pole vault.

"We don't know too much about Russia's young team," commented Joe Yancey, coach of the U.S. men's team. "But I don't think anyone else does either."

When the Russians chopped off the international series in 1966 with the claim they objected to the Vietnam war, many track fans thought they merely were making an excuse for a poor crop of athletes.

Now with a new coach, Vladimir Popov, and some youngsters, they are on a comeback.

The British, with mostly Australian and New Zealand stars, filled-in in 1966 with a meet when the Russians dropped out and were invited again for the competitions at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Distance ace Ron Clarke and Olympic 800 king Ralph Doubell, both Aussies who have been competing in Europe, lead the Commonwealth men's team.

New Zealand school teacher Penny Haworth would give Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles a test in the women's sprints but the Russians historicize.

Travelers Win Over Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers beat Albuquerque 4-2 Thursday night as Reggie Cleveland picked up his 13th victory, but the Dodgers bounced back and trounced Arkansas 13-2 in the second game.

Catcher Bart Zeller broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning of the first game with a leadoff homer and Arkansas stayed ahead to the end of the game.

Albuquerque's victory in the second game was highlighted by a pair of inside-the-park home runs.

In other Texas League action, Shreveport beat El Paso 5-4, Memphis defeated Amarillo 6-5, and Dallas-Fort Worth swept a doubleheader from San Antonio 2-1 and 8-0.

Nodouble Set for Brooklyn Handicap

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer Gene Goff's Nodouble leads thoroughbred racing's old pros in the quest for the big money on the East Coast Saturday while the youngsters go after the gold in the West.

Nodouble is set to go in the $100,000 Brooklyn Handicap while a field of 11 or 12 2-year-olds is expected for the $100,000-added Hollywood Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park.

Meanwhile, the war between two of the top 3-year-old fillies, King Ranch's Gallant Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Werblin's Process Shot, will resume in the $50,000-added Monmouth Oaks at Monmouth Park.

Nodouble, winner of the Santa Anita Handicap and the Californian and second in four other $100,000-added races this year, has the highweight of 127 pounds for the Brooklyn, a 1¼-mile test for 3-year-olds and up, in which he could be opposed by as many as 11.

The early choices for the six-furlong Hollywood Juvenile are Robbins and Essegue's Insubordination, winner of three stakes, Robert K. Miller's Hanalei Bay and Rex Ellsworth's With Evidence.

In the 1¼-mile Monmouth Oaks, Gallant Bloom and Process Shot will renew their rivalry which began in the Post-Deb Stakes won by Gallant Bloom with Process Shot a close second. The defeat stopped Process Shot's string of victories recorded in the Filtration, Black-Eyed Susan, Betsy Ross and Bryn Mawr. Ryan's Hall To Patsy, the Kentucky Oaks winner.

Six 3-year-olds are expected to go in the $50,000-added 11-16-mile Patriot Stakes at Liberty Bell Park, with Pelican Stable's Al Hattab, winner of the recent Camppvinter, and Neil Hellman's Gleaming Light, fresh from a victory in the Dwyer Handicap, heading the field.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY: The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.
1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916 — Purkins & Cates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald — but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.
1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929 — C.E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Best Freckles Treatment Is to Avoid Sunlight

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

proud of your freckles.

Q—What is keratosis? What is the best treatment?

A—This is a hardening of the outer layer of the skin occurring as small, usually pigmented, spots on the exposed parts. In elderly persons the lesions are called senile freckles or age spots. They may also be associated with chronic seborrhea or many years of working in the sun.

Self-treatment is not advised but your doctor or a skin specialist could first determine the true nature of the spots and prescribe appropriate treatment.

Q—In a recent column you mentioned an elbow brace for chronic bursitis. Where can one get it? Does it relieve the shoulder too?

A—This brace, made to the specifications of Drs. Field and Ilfeld, orthopedic surgeons of Beverly Hills, Calif., can be ordered through M. J. Benjamin, Suite 210, Story Building, 610 Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif. 90014. It would not help a bursitis of the shoulder.

Q—In a recent column you said there hadn't been any known cases of encephalitis since 1930. My grandson had this disease in September, 1968.

A—There are several kinds of encephalitis. My answer dealt with encephalitis lethargica or Iceland disease.

Q—What is Estinyl given for? What are its side effects?

A—This is one of the female hormone preparations given chiefly to relieve menopausal symptoms. It should not be given to anyone who has cancer. Too large a dosage of any female hormone may cause nausea, dizziness and headache.

Wrong Number Saves Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — A 15-year-old girl dialed a wrong number that became the first step in saving the life of an elderly Queens woman.

Patricia Dunne of Manhattan tried to telephone her cousin Tuesday night, but she reached a wrong number, and Marie Cahill, 75, answered.

"Please help. Help me. Someone has to do something for me," Mrs. Cahill told Patricia. After a few more words, the phone dropped, and Patricia was worried.

She notified the telephone company, which traced the call when Patricia remembered the number she dialed by mistake. The girl's mother Mrs. Margaret Dunne, returned home, heard the story and notified police.

Police broke into Mrs. Cahill's apartment in Queens and found her unconscious on the floor. She had been stricken by a heart attack. Her hands still clutched the phone.

She was rushed to Elmhurst General Hospital, where she was in fair condition today. Mrs. Cahill was visited today by Patricia and her mother.

"It must have been God," she said, when she heard of her rescue.

WORLD ALMANAC
FACTS

If we could only invent something as simple and as useful as the safety pin, fame and fortune would be secured. Within three hours, Walter Hunt got the idea for the safety pin, made a working model from a spare piece of wire and sold his 1849 patent for $100. The World Almanac says. Hunt remained, however, an obscure genius who also invented, but did not promote, a lock-stitch sewing machine 12 years before Elias Howe.

Picture of Life Aboard Spaceship

SPACE CENTER, Houston — (AP) — Ah, the comforts of home. Dehydrated food, weightlessness, a picture window view of the world, sleeping under the couch—such is the life of an Apollo 11 astronaut. For amusement, there's always the flight plan. It makes good reading for moonbound spacemen Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins.

"We are very comfortable up here," Collins said Thursday. "We do have a happy home. There's plenty of room for the three of us and I think we're all learning to find our favorite little corner to sit in."

Collins said weightlessness is comfortable, "but after a while you get to the point where you're sort of tired of rattling around and banging off the ceiling and the floor and the sides."

So, you just "find a little corner somewhere and put your knees up or something like that to wedge yourself in and that seems more at home."

During Thursday evening's telecast, one of the astronauts showed television viewers how he sleeps, "down underneath this couch," he said, disappearing from view. "It's really comfortable."

Like happy little homemakers, the astronauts took their TV guests on a tour of the pantry.

"Well, it looks like it's about dinner time down there, earth. We'll show you our food cabinet," one of them said.

Collins boosted the morale of flight surgeons when he told earth: "The food so far has been very good, we couldn't be happier with it."

Mission control responded: "The surgeons are saying thank you for that."

Earlier, Collins told mission control: "Boy, you sure get a different perspective in this thing in zero G weightlessness. Right now, Neil's got his feet on the forward hatch and he can with his arms reach all five windows. . . He can practically reach everywhere in the cockpit."

Mission control: "Sounds like 'plastic man' to me."

Collins: "I'm hiding under the left-hand couch, trying to stay out of his way."

Astronauts' Children Full of Talk

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Michael Collins' children return to day camp today, with plenty of stories to tell other campers about their moon-bound fathers.

Kathy, 10, Ann, 7 and Michael, 6, were enthusiastic viewers Thursday night with Mrs. Collins at their house as the Apollo 11 crew made its first live space telecast.

"I thought it was pretty wonderful myself," said Mrs. Collins, who spent most of the day resting, sewing and receiving congratulations from neighbors. The children took a second day off from a YMCA day camp and played with neighborhood pals.

"Wow! that's fantastic!" Mrs. Collins exclaimed when shown an Associated Press photograph of Collins taken from the TV film.

"It looked great, very good. They all looked good," said Mrs. Neal A. Armstrong after watching the television program at her home.

Earlier she predicted in a front lawn news conference that the Apollo 11 crew has a "100 per cent chance" of a successful moon landing. She said she was "concerned but not worried . . . The ability to get off the moon is the biggest thing."

Mrs. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., spent Thursday resting and keeping track of the spacecraft progress. Once she slipped away to buy a birthday present for a friend of her daughter Janice, 11.

She also watched the telecast in her home but had no comment.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
If we fasten our attention on what we have, rather than on what we lack a very little wealth is sufficient. — F. JOHNSON

CALENDAR OF EVENTS
Appreciation Services are still in process at Mt. Zion C.M.E. Church. Guest Minister for the evening is Rev. C.W. Harris, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Perrytown. Guest churches are Common Hill, St. Luke No. 2, Shepard, Haynes Chapel, St. Paul Emmett, Mt. Pleasant C.M.E., Bethel A.M.E. and Garrett Chapel. Rev. H.R. Dotts, Pastor.

There will be a musical program at Mt. Zion C.M.E. Church Saturday night July 19th. All the area choirs will appear. The public is invited. Rev. H.R. Dotts, Pastor.

COMING & GOING
Mrs. A.R. Johnson left yesterday on her vacation to Kansas City, Missouri, where she will visit her sister, and will return home on the 29th of July.

APOLLO ELEVEN

The third man on the moon mission, Mike Collins, below, will play a comparatively passive role — unless something goes wrong. He stays behind in the Command Module while Armstrong and Aldrin prowls the lunar surface. In case of trouble during the Lunar Module's descent, he will attempt to drop down and pluck his fellow astronauts from the crippled vehicle. If he fails, he will be the only member of the trio capable of returning to earth.

Moon souvenirs in the form of soil and rocks will be scooped up by Edwin Aldrin and Neil Armstrong, top, soon after they leave their Landing Module. Moonquakes, if they exist, will be monitored by a seismometer set up by Neil Armstrong, left. The device, radiating data across 240,000 space miles, will enable scientists back on earth to keep their fingers on the lunar pulse.

Personal Note Steeper Ramps for Millwood

This is a belated note about Claude W. Garner, Hope and Washington author, stepfather of George W. Robinson, Jr., of Hope. Mr. Garner sustained a stroke a few days ago while traveling in Texas.

He was taken to a Fort Worth hospital, where his condition improved so that he was removed to his residence in Weatherford, Texas. Reports today were that he would return to the Fort Worth hospital Monday for surgery next week.

Mr. Garner achieved national fame with his first novel, "Wetback," a best-seller telling the story of a young Mexican boy who smuggled himself across the Rio Grande into Texas for farm work. Mr. Garner followed this novel with the even more successful "Cornbread Aristocrat," and several others.

His newest work, "Sam Houston, Texas Giant," is scheduled for publication late this summer. Your editor was given an advance proofbook copy by Mr. Garner and will review it when the reading is complete.

Outdoorsmen who heard this writer's clash with Col. Vernon W. Pinkey, chief of the Tulsa office of the Corps of Engineers, over the too-shallow launching ramps on Millwood Reservoir, at Nashville May 17, will be delighted to learn that the colonel isn't as tough as his public words would make you believe.

I have a letter from Col. Pinkey dated July 15 in which, after digesting the complaints from area boatmen, he reports: "We propose to build any future ramps at Millwood Reservoir to the steeper grades whenever the terrain permits."

The colonel had some photographs made of existing Millwood ramps, and we'll publish these shortly, along with the complete text of his letter.

Youths to Speak at 1st Baptist

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Gerald Trussell, who is on vacation, First Baptist Church will have two youth speakers for the services this Sunday, July 20.

Charles (Chuck) Ward will deliver the 10:45 morning message titled, "Stepping Off with God into Life." Chuck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Ward and a member of the First Baptist Church. He will continue work on a double major in religion and English this fall at Ouachita Baptist University.

The evening message at 7 p.m. will be brought by John Scott Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Andrews. The sermon topic is "The Human Touch." John Scott has attended Ouachita Baptist University for the past three years and is now a pre-med student at the University of Arkansas Medical School in Little Rock.

The public is invited.

Escapee Returns Voluntarily

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — John Charles "Smooth" Wilson, 36, serving 12 years for forgery and uttering when he escaped Tuesday, was returned to Cummins Prison Farm Thursday.

Authorities picked up Wilson as a service station in Dumas, 60 miles southeast of the prison, after the escapee told them where he could be found. Wilson relayed the information by calling the prison on the telephone — collect.

Only Public Employees to Get Holiday

Red River Vocational and Tech. School will be closed Monday in honor of the lunar landing. Classes will be dismissed all day Monday, and then resume.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State employees will get Monday off as a holiday, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's office said Thursday.

President Nixon had suggested that the nation take Monday as a day of national observance of the Apollo 11 mission to land men on the moon for the first time.

Many other operations, especially in the business domain, have indicated they will be open as usual Monday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the nation's 750,000 postal workers will have Monday off to celebrate man's first steps on the moon.

There will be no window service and no residential or rural deliveries, the Post Office Department announced Thursday. Most business deliveries will be curtailed, with some exceptions to prevent undue mail congestion, a spokesman said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate will observe a holiday Monday because of the scheduled moon landing, but for the House of Representatives it will be business as usual.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Essential trades, from the aerospace industry to a diaper service, will work as usual Monday, but many public employees and some private workers will have a holiday to mark the scheduled moon landing.

The possibility of moving up man's first walk on the moon from early Monday to Sunday night, mentioned by flight director Clifford Charlesworth, would have no effect on the holiday.

President Nixon declared Monday a national day of participation hours after watching the Apollo 11 liftoff.

The New York and American Stock Exchanges will be closed. Most federal employees will be off, except those in emergency services. Many states and cities have given their employees a holiday.

But the Boeing Co., which built a booster rocket for the Apollo 11 mission, said, "Our other commitments are so pressing that it is essential that we remain on the job." A spokesman for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in Sunnyvale, Calif. said there would be no time off.

Most banks and retail stores across the nation also were expected to remain open. The International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, asked its 75,000 members to halt work on the Great Lakes and in East and Gulf Coast ports.

State offices, except for emergency services, will be closed in

Nothing Shows Woman as She Really Is Until She's Married

GIs Find Pay Hike Eaten Up by Increase in Prices at the PX

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The GI who went to the PX to celebrate his new pay raise has found the inflation wracking the nation's economy has filtered down to the cost of his hamburger and coffee.

A spokesman for the Army and Air Force Exchange Service said the price hikes had been planned for some time and just happened to coincide with the pay raises which went in effect July 1.

"The timing was unfortunate," the spokesman said, while contending the price increases were overdue.

He claimed the exchange system is only now digging out of a $90 million debt caused by the Vietnam buildup.

Service men, who received an average 12.5 per cent pay increase, will be charged twice as much for a cup of coffee and up to 40 per cent more for a hamburger.

In cash terms, this means a GI will pay 10 cents for a cup of coffee that used to cost him a nickel, though he now will be able to get a refill free. Hamburgers that used to be priced at 25 cents overseas and 30 cents at U.S. bases will now cost 35 cents.

Other price hikes have been ordered for such snackbar favorites as milk shakes, hotdogs, cheeseburgers and beer.

Though the increases amount only to a few cents, they impact most heavily on the lower paid enlisted men who like to patronize snack bars to get relief from mess hall food.

The Nixon administration currently is conducting a high level study of ways to make service life more attractive to bring in more volunteers and reduce reliance on the draft.

But officials noted inflation had been exerting increasing pressure on prices.

Also, they said that the Exchange Service had gone into debt because of Vietnam.

The Exchange Service operates like a business, rather than from appropriated funds.

It meets its expenses through sales, and if it nets a profit, that money goes into service welfare and recreation programs.

Surtax May Have Margin for Passage

By JOE HALL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders say they have lined up all 43 GOP votes against any tax reform amendments to the surtax extension bill.

And they claim enough Democrats will vote with the Republicans on individual issues to insure that all amendments "can be beaten."

For example, the Republicans say there obviously will be enough Democratic votes from oil-producing states to help them defeat any proposals to cut the oil depletion allowance.

The main problem confronting the Republican strategists, however, is how to get the surtax bill before the Senate for debate.

They triggered a direct confrontation with the Senate Democratic leadership on the issue Thursday by forcing the House-passed surtax extension measure out of the Finance Committee.

Two Democrats, Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, joined with the seven Republicans on the panel to get the bill approved 9-8.

They declined to consider a single tax reform amendment.

But Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and his senate Democratic Policy Committee have insisted a full program of tax reform must accompany extension of the surtax.

After the committee's action, Mansfield said flatly his position had not changed.

Birth Control Program Is Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today he wants to make available within five years free birth control advice to American women of child-bearing age with low incomes.

In a special message, Nixon estimated that nearly 5 million U.S. women "do not now have adequate access to family planning assistance."

Proposing an expansion and reorganization of federal family planning services, but giving no estimate of the increased spending involved, Nixon said:

"Clearly, in no circumstances will the activities associated with our pursuit of this goal be allowed to infringe on the religious convictions or personal wishes and freedom of any individual, nor will they be allowed to impair the absolute right of all individuals to have such matters of conscience respected by public authorities."

The chief executive, in the 5,000-word document, sketched out a rather bleak picture of the potential impact of the global population explosion if governments, private agencies and the United Nations fail to begin dealing now with anticipated problems.

In the United States alone, the population will increase nearly 100 million to more than 300 million by the year 2,000, he predicted.

Pointing to just one consequence of the expected population growth, Nixon said: "If we were to accommodate the full 100 million persons in new communities, we would have to build a new city of 250,000 persons each month from now until the end of the century."

They pledged their troth. So what does she slap on the table for him nightly now? If it ain't hash or tuna fish casserole, it's a half-hatched television dinner.

She used to dress so trimly she was the pride of the block. Now she slouches around the house dressed as if she were trying out for a role as one of the three witches in "Macbeth."

Formerly, he loved to talk by the hour with her. Lately, he feels he does nothing but listen while she talks to him by the hours.

Was it only yesterday he liked to sit and hold her hands all evening? Today the only reason he grabs her hands is to keep from being belted while they're having a family argument.

"I'll give you three tall strapping sons," she promised. So what has he got now? Three tall whiny, teen-age daughters, all of whom need a good strapping.

"You'll be my pet forever,"

Outlook for G. American Truce Better

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

El Salvador and Honduras agreed provisionally to halt their war at dawn today but Honduras charged its neighboring enemy broke the cease-fire about two hours later by opening fire on the western front.

A government spokesman in Tegucigalpa, Honduras' capital, said the Honduran forces at Nuevo Ocotepeque returned the fire.

Up to that time, prospects had appeared good for a halt to the fighting that had been under way since Monday.

A peace committee of the Organization of American States remained in Tegucigalpa in its effort to achieve a formal cease-fire which both nations would respect.

Foreign Minister Francisco Jose Guerrero of El Salvador said the temporary cease-fire orders had been sent to command posts at all three fronts on which the Salvadoran army invaded Honduras.

Honduras and El Salvador had agreed to a temporary cease-fire Wednesday night, but this collapsed Thursday. Meanwhile, a peace team from the OAS negotiated without letup in the capitals of the two countries, and late Thursday night OAS Secretary-General Galo Plaza announced in Washington that El Salvador and Honduras had agreed to the basis for a negotiated settlement.

The peace plans calls for a cease-fire accompanied by the withdrawal of all Salvadoran forces from Honduras, guarantees for the safety of the more than 275,000 Salvadorans living in Honduras, and the stationing of OAS observers in both countries to guard against violations.

The resolutions were expected to be voted on in Washington today by the OAS Council. Holguin's group was in constant telephone communication with the OAS peacekeepers shuttling back and forth between San Salvador and Tegucigalpa, the capitals of the two warring nations.

While the negotiating went on, El Salvador's larger, better equipped army made new advances in western and southern Honduras Thursday, and the Hondurans said their little air force hit back at several points.

There was no official word on casualties in the four-day-old war, but informants in Tegucigalpa said close to 1,000 Hondurans had been killed or wounded.

Apollo 11, Now Named 'Columbia,' Will Reach Moon Saturday

Death Awaits Summary Landing is If Stranded on Moon

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston

(AP) — Death awaits the Apollo astronauts if they become marooned on the moon and they know it.

For there is no rescue vehicle that could save them.

Even if another spacecraft were poised on the Cape Kennedy launch pad, it would take four days to reach the moon.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., will land with only a 43-hour supply of oxygen.

If, in landing, their lunar module becomes tilted more than 35 degrees, they cannot fire their ascent engine to rejoin the command ship orbiting above them. The trajectory would not be right. And they have no tools to set the LM upright. Even on the moon, the LM weighs 15,000 pounds, too heavy for men in bulky space suits to shove around.

The command ship, piloted by Michael Collins, could not come down, pick them up, and blast off again. It has neither the rocket engines nor guidance equipment to do so.

Were another Apollo spacecraft already in moon orbit, or near it, its LM with two men aboard couldn't pick up the castaways. There isn't room in the LM for more than two men.

"The assurance going for Armstrong and Aldrin is that 'engineering talent has been concentrated on reliability and basic designs,'" says Christopher C. Kraft Jr., director of flight operations.

A rescue vehicle would cost several times more than the Apollo spacecraft and it would have to have far more intricate flight capabilities, Kraft explained.

Practically every system involved for crew safety has a backup system in case the primary one fails, he says.

A brief course correction firing of Columbia's engine was so accurate Thursday that another firing planned today was canceled.

Although Luna 15 orbited close to the planned 69-mile-high Apollo 11 path, officials said the chances of collision are almost nil.

Armstrong and Aldrin each reported eight solid hours of sleep, with Collins logging nine hours — resting for the critical weekend exploration ahead.

While the astronauts slept, their spaceship hurtled toward a co-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is about equal.

At 11:22 p.m. EDT tonight, the moon will win the gravitational tug-of-war and Apollo 11 will be in the grip of the moon's gravity. The astronauts will pass through this invisible barrier when they are 43,498 miles from the moon and 214,402 miles from their shrinking home planet.

Once across this line, Apollo 11's speed will increase from about 2,000 to 5,700 miles an hour as the pilots sweep toward the backside of the moon.

They are to fire themselves into moon orbit Saturday afternoon and a day later Armstrong and Aldrin are to fly a lunar landing craft, or LM, to the surface. Early Monday, they are to take man's first steps on another celestial body.

Today's major event occurs late in the day when Armstrong and Aldrin wiggle through a connecting tunnel into the LM, nicknamed Eagle, hitched nose-to-nose to the Columbia command ship.

For two hours they are to check the systems of the spin-disk-legged lander. Mainly, they will look for damage that might have occurred Wednesday during the jolting liftoff from Cape Kennedy.

If they find major damage, they will cancel their landing plans. However, mission control officials say, chances of this are remote.

Still a mystery was the Soviet Union's unmanned Luna 15, orbiting just 71 miles above the moon's surface. There was speculation that today or Saturday it might detach a capsule which would land, collect soil samples and take off to rejoin the mother ship for the trip back to earth.

American experts said such a maneuver would be a great technological feat. They feel the Soviet purpose in such a maneuver would be to demonstrate they can return rocks to earth automatically and less expensively than the $355 million Apollo 11 mission.

Dr. Elbert King, curator of a laboratory in Houston where the Apollo 11 moon samples will be studied, said the rumored Luna 15 plan would be like "grabbing in the blind." He noted Armstrong and Aldrin are well trained to pick up meaningful rocks and to leave those of little scientific value.

Guessing

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — Jodrell Bank astronomers said today they are mystified by the performance of the unmanned Soviet Luna 15 orbiting the moon and have no indication what it was going to do next.

They said it appeared at present to pose no danger to the Apollo 11 mission.

Prof. John G. Davies said Luna 15's two-hour orbit took it "hundreds of miles, maybe a thousand miles" from the Apollo landing site.

Sir Bernard Lovell, observatory director, said Luna 15 remained in the close orbit, 62-75 miles above the lunar surface, that it went into Thursday and was transmitting bursts of radio data.

The continuing orbit was puzzling scientists here, the West's chief listening post on Soviet space shots. Along with unofficial Moscow sources, they had expected Luna 15 to land on the moon in an attempt to bring back a lunar soil sample before Apollo could do so.

Lovell said that so far the only feature of Luna 15 different from previous lunar orbiters was its precise injection into an extremely low orbit by means of a single firing of retrorockets Thursday.

He said American probes have gone into close lunar orbit, but in two stages and added that he did not think the achievement of lunar orbit with a single rocket firing would be worth the cost of the Luna 15 flight in the Soviet space program.
